Ashton Allen, a child support team leader for the Hamilton County Department of Job and Family Services, has been named president of the Ohio Family Support Association (OFSA).

The OFSA provides annual conferences to train caseworkers, government officials, lawyers, judges and others on the intricacies of the child support system. It also presents awards to agencies for innovations and best practices.

Allen has worked for the Department of Job and Family Services since 1992, moving up from file room clerk to his present position. His unit is responsible for various special child support enforcement methods, including seizing of bank accounts and income tax offset.

Allen recently completed a degree in Biblical Studies from Faith Baptist Theological College and Seminary. He has been an ordained minister for 11 years at St. Luke Missionary Baptist Church, where he is in charge of evangelistic outreach. Allen is married and lives in Dayton, Ohio.
