Residents Can Learn About Subsidized Child Care in Online Chat

Cincinnati (April 18, 2011) Residents interested in learning more about the child care changes coming May 1 to Hamilton County’s subsidized child care system can sign on to a public Internet chat April 20 with Hamilton County’s Department of Job and Family Services.

The chat is an opportunity for both parents and providers – or potential providers – to ask questions about the county’s subsidized child care program, including the changes that are coming May 1 regarding reimbursement ranges and limits on the number of authorized providers per child. Parents can now authorize only two providers per child, per week, and the range for full-time reimbursement for home providers is now the same as licensed child care facilities.

Also, parents can get information about finding child care and the financial assistance available to them, while providers can learn about starting a home day care and/or caring for children who receive financial assistance through Hamilton County. These topics and others will be addressed in the chat, which is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. on April 20.

“Affordable child care is crucial to helping low-income families stay the course when it comes to finding and keeping employment,” said Moira Weir, director of the county’s Department of Job and Family Services. “Many people are unaware of what help is available. This is a convenient way to learn about obtaining or providing subsidized child care.”

To participate, visit www.hcjfs.org and click on the link posted under Today at HCJFS. Also, an e-mail will be sent to subscribers to the HCJFS Update newsletter and to followers of the agency on Facebook and Twitter (hamiltoncojfs). To sign up for the newsletter, visit www.hcjfs.org.

The chat is part of ongoing attempts by the Department of Job and Family Services, which handles child support collection, child welfare and public assistance programs, to be more accessible and open to its consumers and the public at large. It follows recent moves such as stationing employees in neighborhood non-profits for easier access to services and establishing a Speaker’s Bureau to help educate the public on how the agency does business.

About Hamilton County’s Department of Job and Family Services

The Department of Job and Family Services administers federal, state and local programs for those in need. The Department helps with local child protection, elderly protection, child care, child support enforcement, workforce development, cash assistance, food assistance and Medicaid disbursement. Servicing Hamilton County since 1947, the Department helps hundreds of thousands each year and is accredited by the Council on Accreditation, an international, independent, not-for-profit child and family service accrediting organization.
